Pennsylvania Supreme Court to Livestream 300th Anniversary Symposium

HARRISBURG – Focused on making courts accessible for all Pennsylvanians, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania today announced it will offer a public livestream of its upcoming May argument session and symposium celebrating the Court’s 300th anniversary.

The livestream symposium sessions will also be available for continuing legal education (CLE) and continuing judicial education (CJE) credits through the Pennsylvania Bar Institute (PBI). Attorneys and judges seeking credit hours must register with PBI to receive appropriate credit for attendance.

This Court’s two-day symposium on May 19 and 20 will review key aspects of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court's jurisprudence, use the Court's tricentennial to explore broader issues in our republican form of government, and expound on the role of today's Supreme Court as the administrator of Pennsylvania's Unified Judicial System.

The full symposium agenda is available here. Livestream link information will be made available on the Courts Twitter and Facebook pages.

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court is the Commonwealth’s highest court and the oldest appellate court in the nation. The early Court consisted of a chief justice and two associate justices. Throughout the centuries, it has evolved to its current number of seven sitting justices who make the final decisions interpreting Pennsylvania’s laws and Constitution. The Court has full administrative authority over all aspects of Pennsylvania’s judicial system and may also hear cases involving issues of immediate public importance arising in the Commonwealth.
